Dig and Build Anything, Anywhere -- "I can dig any part of the world, anywhere, in any condition, in any terrain, and everything will be built in way that will resemble the real world. And I can build anything and everything, outside and inside of the machines." We are a small team of developers with a genuine fascination for machines of all kinds. Machine World 2 was mostly developed by two people, supported by a wider network of specialists and consultants. We are community and player oriented and try to interact as much as possible. Your ideas and feedback are important, so please do not hesitate to get in touch through our forums or social media channels. You enter Machine World 2: YOUR WORLD -- Machine World 2 is a sandbox, semi-open world simulation. Dig and build anything you want, and many things you can't. The territory is yours and there is no limit to what you can build. Fully deformable terrain. Dig and deform anywhere, without limitations. Dynamic (and removable) trees, rocks and debris. YOUR VEHICLES -- "Thanks to a variety of vehicles, you'll be able to travel anywhere in the world." IMPORTANT: Machine World 2 does not currently have any combat simulation. We hope to add this in the future. Machine World 2 is an experimental, single-player, sandbox building game, which allows you to dig and build everywhere, in any terrain, and in any condition. The game is being developed using Unity, Unity3d, C# and XNA. The name of the game comes from the real machines that the developers of the project have been (and still are) fascinated with. Machine World 2 is a sandbox and construction simulator game where you build and dig everything from nuclear power plants and wind turbines to basic huts and storage sheds. It's your sandbox, your world. You can build anything, anywhere and your imagination is the only limit. The world is generated dynamically, based on real-world geological phenomena and simulated weather patterns. Game Features "Any Machine, Anywhere": Dig and build anything you want. The territory is yours and there is no limit to what you can build. Different Machine Types: The game contains a wide variety of machine types. It is up to you to decide which machine type to use in your adventures. A Dynamic Terrain

John:

We are pleased to announce that the first patch for Hellbound has been released. The update brings the game to v0.8.2. Fixes, and quality of life issues have been addressed in the new update. So what do you do with your upgraded Hellbound? Use your Steam account to download the update for Xbox if you own the game on that platform, or the version with the update on PC, PS4, or the Wii. If you already own this game on another system or platform, that means you just need to download the patch and you're ready to play!

Stuart:

Hello All! Happy New Year!

Here's a little heads up about updates to the game. We've had some major changes since v0.7.3 and we are getting ready to release v0.8.1. We already have HTML5 2.0 supporting, this means a higher resolution interface (960x540) but no more resizing of the interface upon launch of a new map! The update will also be available for the iPhone and Android devices as well as the Wii and PC. So hopefully anyone who's having

The beloved and iconic train simulation game Train Simulator has now evolved into the Train Simulator World® series! The latest release in the series is Train Simulator World2, featuring an extensive overhaul and many new features. Train Sim World2 delivers new environments, visual improvements, new physics and locomotive designs, along with new trains and new industries! Train Simulator World® 2 Features: Based on the phenomenal success of Train Simulator World®, we're proud to present the sequel to our bestselling game! With stunning environments, highly detailed cities and beautiful scenery, there are plenty of opportunities to explore. NEW TRAINS Over 100 new and unique trains. New large and small train manufacturers including Nippon Sharyo, and coach builders such as Jaguar. New trains have been added to the original game and so too have many of the industry types from earlier in the series. New and existing locomotives and carriages are supported as well. The game boasts the most diverse and rich range of train types ever seen in a Train Simulator game. Enhanced simulation Two new levels of detail have been added to the default and free play mode environments. For example: cars and lorries can now be inspected closely, and platforms can be measured at the closest level of detail! Rails and vegetation have been improved and re-built. We've made sure the scenery is just as detailed as the trains and the train environment now also responds to improvements in simulation accuracy. Included with Train Simulator World® 2 are new AIS (Automatic Identification System) signals which can be customised for both the level of detail and free play modes of the game. For existing users, new industries and modes have been added, along with support for exporting to Train Simulator World®. A new online Passport system, allowing Train Simulator World® 2 users to automatically save their progress online. EXPLORE THE WORLD Train Simulator World® 2 includes all of the classic regions of the original game. The Train Simulator World® series will take you across five vast geographical areas: The Alps of Austria, the Mount Blanc of Europe and the Ural Mountain. These are the Alps, the mountains of the European Union and the Siberian taiga forests. The cityscapes of London, Madrid and Paris, home of world-famous cities. Experience the real, exciting and diverse terrain of the

What's new:

2. It has been the best friends who have struggled with the doctrine of the church and true doctrine the most. * This certainly applies to those of us who were active in our local ward. The scriptures tell us, "Woe unto you for ye know not the scriptures, ye do err" (Moro. 7:27). Then there's probably a special help meet, who knows everything, who doesn't need the scriptures. * We need the scriptures so that we can see where we've been misled and find the truth. If we only look at the same old idents, the current culture, and the politically correct facts we keep hearing every week, then the truth disappears before our eyes. We need the scriptures to find it (see Alma 5). Remember, we can get into too much trouble trying to fight battles we don't really understand. * While we're speaking of studying the scriptures, there is another activity that God expects of us. He offers a personal revelation such as Paul did. Joseph, Hyrum, and other great prophets recieved revelations from God in their studying of the scriptures. Most of all, we need to read the scriptures ourselves, by seeking the spirit and praying to know if the things we read are true. We also need to have a personal revelation concerning what the scriptures say. 3. It has also been the best friends who have stood before kings and stood up for what they believe and the truth, of have sat in courtrooms and sued to defend the truth to make sure that every man, woman and child has access to freedom of choice. * This applies to us all, but especially to us ministers of the gospel. We teach people the gospel, so they have the freedom to accept or reject it (see Moro, 5; 1 Nephi 13:33-34). Even in this time, when many are taking the gospel away from those who ask for it, there are those like those you will read about in Elder R. Palmer's next letters, and our new prophet, "who have returned to our Father in Heaven, so that they might find a true home." The gospel in these times needs to be taught and practiced. If we don't teach the gospel to the people we meet, they don't have it and they don't need it. * We can also give spiritual advice to those who are in the position that we were in when we were first teaching people the gospel. If we stay active
