Then at one point it was just a few us, Now more than 30 years later (and counting) we continue to thrive and survive Having lived through the bad times, we continue to strive to the good, We fought hard for America, And in 1966, this country that we love became the land of liberty and justice and there were no racial barriers here. You know why? That is because we are really really really White. Our current president has said that this is the first time we have ever been at war in a nation where the other side is not of a different color. It is a great privilege to be born as a White male. I am thankful that my life and that of my wife and family is so blessed. We are a very blessed people, and are able to do so much more and better for the white race than they can for any other race. As a white man, I do not consider myself to be a racist because my parents were born white. Being born White is such a great privilege, and it is my duty to teach my children to treat people with respect and love, regardless of the color of their skin. I was running fast to escape from the onslaught, but I was trapped, bounded by a ring of fire. A minute went by, and a minute more. Every second felt an eternity; and still the fire drew closer. In despair I looked up, to see the face of my captor. He was a handsome young man, with thick curly hair and chiseled good looks. I watched as his face wrinkled with a frown; I watched as his eyes narrowed with rage. Then suddenly, the young man was gone, and there in his place stood the leopard, his jaws wide open, dripping saliva that fountained to the floor.
